

Thread: peer review for Paul

Search

Refresh

Select: All None

Thread 4 of 18

Message Actions

Expand All

Collapse All

1 Post(s) in this Thread

0 Unread

Tracy Manley

11 days ago

peer review for Paul

He had very minor formatting errors. His argument was that the students in his story were the monsters because they essentially caused the incident. The opposing viewpoint was to call a student named Seung-Hui Cho the monster. He was the victim of bullying. He went on to murder others. He used bullying and racism when defending his argument. I pointed out his errors to him. Sources are used appropriately. I suggested that he introduce his sources if he needs more to write about. I can agree with the author, but I am not firmly on one side. You can make an argument for both viewpoints.

ReplySelect: All NoneMessage Actions

Expand All

Collapse All

← OK